

BLACK TOMATO GIN

Reveal the mystery

Black tomato Gin is born in the authentic harbor of Bruinisse, a small fisherman village with a long tradition in fishing mussels. The distillery is facing the clear waters of the Oosterschelde which is the biggest wet National park of the Netherlands.

Besides organic alcohol, organic juniper berries and black organically grown tomatoes from a breed that was formed by selection and not by genetic engineering, a touch of purified salt water from the Oosterschelde is added. This gives the Black Tomato Gin a very light touch of salt.

The distillery is one of the rare distilleries in the Netherlands having its own traditional malt-floor, stone floor for sprouting of steeped malting-grains.

Black Tomato Gin

The gin is spicy in nature and has a refined taste. Ripe fruit is followed by spicy notes. Influences from tomatoes are prominent, as well as those of juniper berries.
